

Montgomery Library Digital Repository Submission Policy

Depositors of material will authorize the submission of each file and should be willing to permit immediate campus or global access to the content. Digital files must be submitted in supported file formats in order to receive repository preservation services.

Materials submitted should be the intellectual property of the author, the department, or Campbellsville University and not under any copyright restrictions imposed by a third party.

Materials should be submitted to MLDR either by one of the authors listed on the material, or by an appointed agent of one of the authors. Materials that are not “born digital” may also be deposited in MLDR, but they must be first digitized into a supported file format (.doc, .docx, .pdf, .ppt, .pptx, .jpg, or .tiff).

Items submitted to MLDR that fall outside the scope of these content guidelines will either be rejected by the MLDR Administrator or sent back for revision. MLDR retains the rights to reject works that do not abide by Campbellsville University or Montgomery Library’s policies.
